7. How interest is calculated

7.1. Interest calculation method

Interest is calculated on the daily balance of your credit card account and is charged to your account once a month. The daily balance is multiplied by the daily interest rate applicable to each type of transaction (for example, purchases, cash advances, or balance transfers).

The daily interest rate is the annual interest rate divided by 365 (or 366 for leap years).

Here are some examples of the interest charges over a 30-day period:

Annual	Average balance
interest	$500	$3 000
20.99%	$8.63	$51.76
22.49%	$9.24	$55.45
25.99%	$10.68	$64.08
27.49%	$11.30	$67.78

7.2. Interest-free period to pay off outstanding amounts (grace period)

7.2.1. Purchases

You have a grace period of at least 21 days following the end of each statement period. The grace period ends on the due date shown on each statement

You pay no interest on the amount of new purchases charged to your credit card account for the statement period if you pay off your balance in full before it's due date. The balance amount and the due date are shown on each statement.

If you do not pay off your balance in full by the due date, interest on those purchases will be posted to your account on the next statement. Interest will be calculated from the date the purchases were posted to the account until the balance is paid in full. Interest is calculated as set out in section 7.1.

7.2.2. Cash advances and balance transfers

There is no grace period for cash advances and balance transfers. Interest on cash advances and balance transfers accrues from the date of the transaction until payment in full is received.

- c) the minimum payment due and the due date for making that payment—see section 9 below;
- d) an estimate of how long it will take to pay off the entire unpaid balance of your account if you make only the minimum payment each month.

8.2. Specific conditions impacting the frequency of statements

- a) You do not receive a statement on a monthly basis if the credit card account was not used during the month and no balance is due;
- b) You will receive a statement every 3 months when:
  - you have not made any purchases, cash advances, balance transfers, or payments,
  - no interest or fees have been posted to the account, and
  - the total balance in your account is less than $10.

8.3. Your duty to check your statements

You must notify us immediately of any change in your contact information. We will send you statements and notices based on the latest information in our records.

9. How to repay your credit card account

9.1. Making the minimum payment

The amount and due date of the minimum payment are shown on each statement

9.1.1. Calculation of the minimum payment

The minimum payment amount is a percentage of your account balance for each statement period, unless a specific condition under section 9.1.2 applies. According to your province of residence, the percentage is:

Province	Minimum payment
Quebec	5%
Other provinces and territories	2.5%

If you reside in the province of Quebec and your account was opened before August 1st, 2019, the percentage will gradually increase to 5% as follows:

Statement date	Minimum payment
Before August 1st, 2021	2.5%
From August 1st, 2021, to July 31, 2022	3.0%
From August 1st, 2022, to July 31, 2023	3.5%
From August 1st, 2023, to July 31, 2024	4.0%
From August 1st, 2024, to July 31, 2025	4.5%
From August 1st, 2025, and after	5.0%

The percentage used to calculate your minimum payment is determined by your place of residence at the time the statement is issued

9.1.2. Specific conditions for the calculation of the minimum payment

- a) Any late payment is added to the minimum payment amount.
- b) If the minimum payment calculated under sections 9.1.1 and 9.1.2 a) is less than $10, the minimum payment will be $10.
- c) If the total balance of your account is less than $10, the total balance is the minimum payment.

9.2. How we apply the minimum payment

9.2.1. Allocation of the minimum payment

The amount of your minimum payment will be applied (or allocated) in the following order:

- a) interest;
- b) fees:
- c) cash advances and balance transfers outstanding from the previous balance;
- d) purchases outstanding from the previous balance:
- e) cash advances, balance transfers and purchases appearing on your statement for the current period.

If you benefit from a promotional rate, the payment will be applied in the following order:

- a) interest;
- b) fees;
- c) purchases, balance transfers or cash advances bearing interest at the lowest rate, regardless of the posting date on the statement.

9.2.2. Allocation of the payment portion exceeding the minimum payment

The payment portion exceeding the minimum payment will be applied (or allocated) in the order set out in section 9.2.1.

If different interest rates apply to your transactions,

the payment portion exceeding the minimum payment will be allocated as follows:

- b) the payment amount is applied to the different groups of transactions on a pro rata basis.

10. How to make your payments

You can make your payments as follows:

- a) through the payment solutions made available to you (for example, through our online banking services);
- b) by preauthorized debits;

There may be processing delays that apply to your payment. You must allow sufficient time before the due date for us to apply the amount to your credit card account.

11. What is the consequence when you do not make your minimum payments

11.1. Interest rate increase

Your interest rates increase at the increased rates if you do not make your minimum payment by the due date twice in any 12-month period.

The increased rates are set out in the Summary Table of Credit Card Conditions (information box) or in any subsequent notice.

The increased rates will take effect at the beginning of the third statement period following the second missed payment period.

11.2. Duration of the increase at the increased rates

The increased rates will apply to your account balance until you make your minimum payment by the due date indicated on the monthly statement for 9 consecutive months. After this period, the regular rates will apply, regardless of whether a promotional or reduced rate was in effect prior to the rate increase. Regular rates take effect at the beginning of the first statement period following the 9th consecutive month in which minimum payments have been made by the due date.

Any missed payment during is taken into consideration. A missed payment that has already resulted in an increase in your rates may therefore be considered twice if another missed payment occurs in the next 12 months.

18. Clauses required by law (Quebec)

Here is the full text of the other clauses that we are legally required to include in the agreement for the province of Quebec:

"Clause required under the Consumer Protection Act. (Open credit contract for the use of a credit card)

1) If the consumer uses all or part of the credit extended to make full or partial payment for the purchase or the lease of goods or for a service, the consumer may, if the open credit contract was entered into on the making of and in relation to the sale, lease or service contract, and if the merchant and the open credit merchant collaborated with a view to granting credit, plead against the lender any ground of defence urgeable against the merchant who is the vendor, lessor, contractor or service provider.

The consumer may also, in the circumstances described in the first paragraph, exercise against the open credit merchant, or against the merchant's assignee, any right exercisable against the merchant who is the vendor, lessor, contractor or service provider if that merchant is no longer active or has no assets in Québec, is insolvent or is declared bankrupt. The open credit merchant or the merchant's assignee is then responsible for the performance of the obligations of the merchant who is the vendor, lessor, contractor or service provider up to the amount of, as the case may be, the debt owed to the open credit merchant at the time the contract is entered into, the debt owed to the assignee at the time it was assigned to him or the payment the open credit merchant received if he assigned the debt.

2) A consumer who is solidarily liable with another consumer for the obligations arising from an open credit contract is released from the obligations resulting from any use of the open credit account after notifying the merchant in writing that he will no longer use the credit extended and no longer intends to be solidarily liable for the other consumer's future use of the credit extended in advance, and after providing proof to the merchant, on that occasion, that he informed the other consumer by sending him a written notice to that effect at his last known address or technological address.

Any subsequent payment made by the consumer must be applied to the debts contracted before the notice was sent to the merchant.

- 3) A consumer who has entered into a preauthorized payment agreement with a merchant under which payments are made out of credit obtained under a credit card contract may end the agreement at any time by sending a notice to the merchant.
  - On receipt of the notice, the merchant must cease to collect the preauthorized payments.
  - On receipt of a copy of the notice, the card issuer must cease debiting the consumer's account to make payments to the merchant.
- 4) The consumer is not liable for debts resulting from the use of a credit card by a third person after the card issuer has been notified, by any means, of the loss, theft or fraudulent use of the card or of any other use of the card not authorized by the consumer. Even if no notice was given, consumer liability for the unauthorized use of a credit card is limited to $50. The consumer is held liable for the losses incurred by the card issuer if the latter proves that the consumer committed a gross fault as regards the protection of the related personal identification number.

5) Without delay at the end of each period, the merchant must send the consumer a statement of account. The merchant is not required to send a statement of account to the consumer at the end of any period if there have been no advances or payments during the period and the outstanding balance at the end of the period is zero.

- 6) If the consumer makes a payment at least equal to the outstanding balance at the end of the preceding period within 21 days after the date of the end of the period, no credit charges may be required from the consumer on that outstanding balance, except as regards money advances. In the case of a money advance, charges may accrue as of the date of the advance until the date of payment.
- 7) The consumer may demand that the merchant send, without charge, a copy of the vouchers for each of the transactions charged to the account during the period covered by the statement. The merchant must send the copy of the vouchers requested within 60 days after the date the consumer's request was sent.
- 8) Until the consumer receives a statement of account at his address or technological address if expressly authorized by the consumer, the merchant must not claim credit charges on the unpaid balance, except as regards money advances.

It is in the consumer's interest to refer to sections 103.1, 122.1, 123, 123.1, 124, 126, 126.2, 126.3, 127 and 127.1 of the Consumer Protection Act (chapter P-40.1) and, if further information is necessary, to contact the Office de la protection du consommateur."
